Shooting Victim

Buried

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Wednesday at Need Funeral Home, with burial in Spring Valley for a 17-year-old Spring Valley high school junior, Jan. Emery Gruber, shot fatally in what is believed to have been an accident, by his 15-year-old girl friend at her home in Bowersville Sunday noon.

James R. Ramsey, chief deputy in the Greene County sheriff's department, said the girl, Beverly Ferguson, a freshman at Jefferson high school in Bowersville, had not been questioned yet because of her hysterical condition. She was given sedatives yesterday.

Ramsey said remarks made by the girl indicated the gun was in her hands when it apparently discharged, hitting the youth in the stomach. He ran into the front yard of the home after being hit, then was taken to Greene Memorial Hospital in Xenia where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Dr. E. J. Schmidt, Xenia, acting coroner, said his verdict would await completion of Ramsey's investigation.

The youth is survived by his mother, Mrs. Rella Melotte Gruber, and stepfather, Harold E. Hill; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Melotte, of Clinton, and his stepgrandfather, George F. Hill, Brown County; a brother, Elden Gruber, in the Navy and stationed at Atlantic City, and two sisters, Carolyn Gruber and Merle Hill at home.

A verdict of suicide was given by Acting Coroner E.J. Schmidt of Xenia in the death of Airman Leroy Marvin Reed, 23, Korean War veteran, who ended his life by shooting in the head in the barnyard in the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Reed on North Jeffersonville Pk., two miles east of Jamestown, Saturday evening.

The youth was found by relatives about 6:30 p.m. and died a short time later at the office of Dr. R. L. Haines in Jamestown. Dr. Schmidt said the youth shot himself in the right top side of his head with a .22 caliber revolver which had an old-fashioned six-and-three-quarter-inch-long barrel.

Reed, who returned from Korea recently where he served in the Army, had been on furlough from Chanute Field, Ill. He had been scheduled to return there Friday night but had been granted an extension, relatives reported.

The son of Thomas C. and Emma Bradshaw Reed, he was born at Hardaway, Okla., July 18, 1930. The Reed family moved to the Jamestown community a number of years ago. The youth was a member of the Church of Christ in Christian Union at Jeffersonville.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, Forest, at home, and Pico, Marion Reed, stationed at Camp Kilmer, N.J., and five sisters, Mrs. Gladys Phillips of Xenia and Mrs. Mary Caldwell of Jamestown, and Luena, Martha and Verda, at home.

Scores Given In

8th Grade Tests

Eighth grade students in the Jamestown Public School who participated in the State Eighth Grade Tests under the sponsorship of the Greene County Board of Education have received their scores.

The tests were constructed in four parts, English, Arithmetic, Science and History with 50 points being possible for each section and a total for the test of 200. Three hundred and sixty three pupils in the county took the tests.

Students receiving certificates are as follows: Richard Jenks, 153; Rebecca Glasco, Silvercreek, 149; Dick Reese, 145; Cyril Moorman, 143; other students ranked in the upper 25 percent in this order John Burnett and Donna Swaney.

The tests are given in each of the local schools and graded by a committee in the school. The totals are made available to each of the local superintendents with the county medians. Later the state medians are sent to each of the local schools. When the local median is far below the county and state, it is an indication that the junior high area needs some adjustment in the program or personnel. Usually there are upwards of 50,000 eight graders who participate in the program in Ohio.

ANTIOCH'S DR. LOUD REVEALED

The following is a portion of the story regarding the activities of one Antioch College faculty member, Prof. Oliver S. Loud, Professor of Physical Science. This part of the story is from the public records of the Committee on Un-American Activities of the U.S. House of Representatives:

It was reported in two Communist newspapers, the Daily Worker of February 28, 1949, p. 9, and Narodna Yolya, March 25, 1949, p. 4, that Oliver S. Loud, Professor at Antioch College, was a signer of a statement in behalf of 12 Communist leaders. Eleven of these leaders were convicted on October 14, 1949, of conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government (New York Times, October 15, 1949, p. 5).

Oliver S. Loud was a signer of a brief submitted in behalf of John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo, October 1949, in the Supreme Court of the United States. According to the Daily Worker of September 29, 1952, p. 2, Professor Loud was a signer of a letter to the Attorney General requesting bail for Martin Young. The article said: "Young is a non-citizen trade organizer who was arrested Oct. 26, 1951, deportation under the McCarran Act. Repeatedly denied bail by the Attorney General, he has been held on Ellis Island ever since."

The Daily Worker of December 10, 1952, p. 4, names Professor Loud as a signer of an appeal to President Truman requesting amnesty for leaders of the Communist Party convicted under the Smith Act.

The following is quoted from Joseph Starobin's column — "Around the Globe" — in the Daily Worker of March 8, 1948, p. 8: "There's nothing more instructive and exciting than the chance to talk with people, especially young people, who don't agree with you and probably have never seen an American Communist in their lives. I had that experience last Thursday... The Department of Speech at Ohio State University, in Columbus, was holding its annual public affairs conference on the subject 'What Our Policy Toward Russia Should Be.'"

"I should also add that, apart from myself, strong progressive and earnest contributions were made by the PCA spokesman, Oliver S. Loud, professor of physics at Antioch..."

It was reported in the Daily Worker of May 4, 1948, p. 11, that Oliver S. Loud was a signer of a statement attacking the Mundt Anti-Communist Bill.

Professor Loud was a signer of a statement sponsored by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, according to the Daily Worker of August 10, 1950, p. 5. He was named a sponsor of the organization in the Daily Worker of April 4, 1951, p. 8. He was also shown to be a sponsor in a list appearing on an undated letterhead of the 20th Anniversary National Conference (December 8-9, 1951). An article in the Daily Worker of October 30, 1952, p. 3, said:

"Eighty prominent Americans, in a statement to the President's Commission on Immigration and Naturalization have charged that 'freedom of thought, speech and association are being denied to all foreign born in this country' as a result of the current anti-foreign born policies. It was announced yesterday by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born."

Oliver S. Loud, Yellow Springs, O., was named as signer of the statement. The Daily Worker of April 29, 1953, p. 6, listed Professor Loud among the sponsors for 1953 of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. It was reported in the Daily Worker of July 8, 1953, p. 8, that he endorsed a statement of the officers of the ACPFB condemning the Justice Department's move to have the organization register as a Communist front. Professor Loud was one of the sponsors of the National Conference to Repeal the Walter-McCarra Law and Defend Its Victims, December 12 and 13, under the auspices of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, according to the Daily Worker of October 1, 1953, p. 2.

The American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born was cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General, in letters to the Loyalty Review Board, released June 1, 1948, and September 21, 1948. It was redesignated April 27, 1953, pursuant to Executive Order 10450. The Special Committee on Un-American Activities called it "one of the oldest, atomic physicist, as a signer married in June.

auxiliaries of the Communist Party in the United States" (Report, March 29, 1944, p. 155; also cited in Report, June 25, 1942, p. 13).

A leaflet, "Freedom Crusade", listed Oliver S. Loud as one of the sponsors of the National Civil Rights Legislative Conference, January 18 and 19, 1949, under the auspices of the Civil Rights Congress. An advertisement "paid for by contributions of signers", which appeared in the (Washington) Evening Star, October 30, 1951, p. A-7, named Oliver S. Loud as one of the signers of an open letter to J. Howard McGrath, Attorney General of the United States, concerning four jailed Trustees of the Ball Fund of the Civil Rights Congress of New York.

The Civil Rights Congress has been cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General, in letters to the Loyalty Review Board, released December 4, 1947, and September 21, 1948 (redesignated April 27, 1953). The Committee on Un-American Activities called it an organization "dedicated not to the broader issues of civil liberties, but specifically to the defense of individual Communists and the Communist Party" and "controlled by individuals who are either members of the Communist Party or openly loyal to it" (Report No. 1115, September 2, 1947, pp. 2 and 19).

The name of Dr. Oliver S. Loud appears on a mimeographed petition attached to a letterhead of the Spanish Refugee Appeal of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, dated May 18, 1951. The petition asked President Truman "to bar military aid to or alliance with Fascist Spain". The Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee was cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General, in letters to the Loyalty Review Board, released December 4, 1947, and September 21, 1948 (redesignated April 27, 1953). The Special Committee on Un-American Activities called it a "Communist-front organization headed by Edward K. Barsky" (Report, March 29, 1944, p. 174).

"To Safeguard These Rights", published by the Bureau on Academic Freedom, National Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, names Oliver S. Loud as a sponsor of a conference, October 9-10, 1948. He was shown to be a sponsor of the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace, New York City, March 25-27, 1949, arranged by the Council (Conference Call and Program, p. 13). The following sources name him as a signer of statements issued by the Council: Congressional Record, July 14, 1949, p. 9620; a list of signers attached to a letterhead of the Council July 28, 1950; Daily Worker, August 7, 1950, p. 8. The Daily Worker of June 2, 1952, p. 3, named him as an endorser of a resolution of the Council calling for hearing of Tunisia's demands in the United Nations.

The National Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions was cited as a Communist front by the Committee on Un-American Activities (Review of the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace, House Report No. 1954, April 25, 1951, p. 2).

Oliver S. Loud was a sponsor of the American Continental Congress for Peace in Mexico City, according to the Daily People's World of August 18, 1949, p. 2. The Congress was cited as "another phase in the Communist 'peace' campaign, aimed at consolidating anti-American forces throughout the Western Hemisphere" (Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report No. 378, April 25, 1951, p. 21).

The Call to the Mid-Century Conference for Peace, May 29, 30, 1950, Chicago, named Professor Loud as one of the sponsors. The Conference was cited as a meeting held by the Committee for Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact and as having been "aimed at assembling as many gullible persons as possible under Communist direction and turning them into a vast scolding board for Communist propaganda" (Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report No. 378, April 25, 1951, p. 50).

The Daily Worker of June 20, 1950, p. 2, named Prof. Oliver S. Loud as a signer married in June.

of the World Peace Appeal. An undated leaflet (received September 11, 1950), "Prominent Americans Call for Outlawing Atomic Warfare", also listed Professor Loud as an endorser of the Appeal. The Committee on Un-American Activities cited the World Peace Appeal as a petition campaign launched by the Permanent Committee of the World Peace Congress at its meeting in Stockholm, March 16-18, 1950; as having "received the enthusiastic approval of every section of the international Communist hierarchy"; as having been lauded in the Communist press, putting "every individual Communist on notice that he has the duty to rise to this appeal"; and as having "received the official endorsement of the Supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R., which has been echoed by the governing bodies of every Communist satellite country, and by all Communist Parties throughout the world" (Report No. 378, April 25, 1951, p. 34).

A letterhead of the American Peace Crusade, dated February 1951, listed Professor Oliver S. Loud as one of the initial sponsors of a "Peace Pilgrimage" to Washington. A report of plans for a nationwide "Peace Referendum", announced jointly by 43 initiators and the American Peace Crusade, appearing in the Daily Worker of August 22, 1952, p. 3, named Oliver S. Loud as one of the initiators. A letterhead of the American Peace Crusade, dated February 25, 1953, named him as one of the initial sponsors. The Call to a Lobby for Peace listed Professor Loud as a sponsor. The Lobby was backed by the New York Peace Council of the American Peace Crusade (Daily Worker, June 23, 1953, p. 8).

The American Peace Crusade was cited as an organization which "the Communists established" as "a new instrument for their 'peace' offensive in the United States" and which was heralded by the Daily Worker "with the usual bold headlines reserved for projects in line with the Communist objectives" (Committee on Un-American Activities, statement issued on the March of Treason, February 19, 1951, and House Report No. 378, on the Communist "Peace" Offensive, April 25, 1951, p. 51).

A letterhead of the Conference for Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact, dated August 21, 1949, listed Professor Loud as a signer of an open letter to Senators and Congressmen urging defeat of President Truman's arms program. According to a statement attached to a press release of December 14, 1949, p. 14, Professor Loud was a signer of a statement issued by the same organization calling for international agreement to ban the use of atomic weapons. The Committee for Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact was cited as an organization which was formed as a result of the Conference for Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact, to further the cause of "Communists in the United States" doing "their part in the Moscow campaign" (Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report No. 378, April 25, 1951, p. 54).

ROVIN'

With Ralph Shupe

We'd rather write about how much work the local boys did getting ready for the plowing contest than devote so much space to the evil of Communism. The plowing contest is an entertaining subject . . . an American subject. Why . . . y'know . . . just practicing for that plowing contest. . . Ivan Tidd . . . Warren Long and Ken Gordon plowed . . . free for nothin' . . . about fifteen acres of a twenty acre field for E. L. and Robert Ritenour. Ivan even changed his tractor tires and "hot-rodded" that gasoline "mule" in his all-out desire to win. Ivan Tidd placed second but we sorta have a feelin' that the "big winners" were none other than E. L. and Robert Ritenour.

There are so many things like that in the life of the Jamestown area to give you a lift and . . . sometimes . . . a chuckle. But there are other forces and events in Greene County which give neither a lift nor a chuckle. Antioch College for example . . . The small clique that runs Antioch College has risen up in its power and struck what may be the death blow to the Yellow Springs "AMERICAN" . . . a weekly paper which we've been trying to get on its feet. Spokesmen for Antioch College . . . so some of our advertisers tell us . . . have warned them that they will be "boycotted" if they continue to advertise in the "AMERICAN." No advertising . . . no "AMERICAN."

The Yellow Springs "AMERICAN" was started just a year ago by a small group of Yellow Springs and Miami Twp. citizens who were fearful of what seemed to be a dangerous influence in their midst . . . Loyal citizens who were tired of the "Communist" and "pink" labels which had come to be applied to the Village of Yellow Springs and adjacent territory. Little businessmen . . . farmers . . . just folks . . . they pitched in as many dollars as they could to start a newspaper thinking that maybe they might thereby correct the situation around them. Then . . . they could tell people they were from Yellow Springs without being greeted with the usual "raised eyebrows" and supercilious snickers. What has happened to them since should be told . . . but another time. Today . . . their little weekly paper is dying . . . dying because it dared to tell the truth. If it dies . . . we'll be rovin' on because there is no place for us in a community where a newspaper can die from the "disease" which has hit the Yellow Springs "AMERICAN."

Mrs. Mildred Pruitt . . . the plucky red-headed women's organizer for the Greene Co. Democratic Committee . . . had this to say in a speech at the courthouse in Xenia last night:

"Greene Co., Ohio is permeated with an atmosphere of fear. This fear is an outgrowth of a sinister, menacing, creeping 'something' created by a group of people in Yellow Springs, Ohio."

So . . . if this should be our last chat with you . . . we're going to relate some of what we've found out thru the plain unglamorous digging which is the everyday lot of a news reporter. We'd planned to reveal the story in more detail with greater documentation. But you have to pitch while you still have the ball so . . . briefly . . . here it is:

Antioch College may have been in the past . . . may now be and could be in the future one of the most dangerous and productive Communist espionage centers to be found anywhere in the United States.

When we accepted this most unprofitable assignment . . . we knew a little about the Communists and their methods of operation. We've seen them in action in Washington, D. C., Columbus and Cincinnati. We've tangled with them at the University of Pennsylvania and Ohio State U. Among the few things we've learned about them are these: They have a purpose for each move they make . . . and . . . they're experts at getting their spies and saboteurs in key positions. It would take a lot of men quite a while to destroy your water supply by going from house to house and breaking each connection but one man at the main valve at the pumping station can cut off your water supply in a matter of seconds. The Communists go for the "main valve."

Why would the Communists be interested in a Midwestern college located in a quiet little village with rural surroundings? The Reds more commonly prefer cities where their scurvy operatives are not so noticeable. We looked for the "main valve" in Yellow Springs.

Antioch College is a "main valve" for vital national defense and industrial research information.

As you know . . . under the Antioch co-operative system . . . students study on campus for a few months and then work at some job for a few months . . . usually a job related to the course they're taking.

In the manufacturing field . . . they get jobs as "factory workers and inspectors; draftsmen; surveyors; engineering aides-aeronautical, chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical, and radio; biochemists, chemists, physicists, etc." And a list of the manufacturing firms now employing Antioch "co-op" students reads like an excerpt from a "Who's Who in U. S. Defense Industry." The following are just a few typical firms.

Aircraft-Marine Products Inc., Harrisburg, Pa.
Bell Aircraft Corporation, Buffalo.
Bendix Aviation Corporation, South Bend, Indiana.
Dow Chemical Co., Midland, Michigan.
General Electric Company, Lynn, Mass.; Schenectady, N. Y.; Erie, Pa.
Monsanto Chemical Company, St. Louis; Nitro, W. Va.

In the words of the Antioch College Bulletin, "Through their jobs, physics students have opportunities to assist in research in electronics, television, aircraft engine design, electrical instruments, acoustics, biophysics, and chemical physics." The physicists played an essential role in the development of the atomic and hydrogen bombs . . . Dr. Allen Nunn May, a nuclear physicist, was sentenced to ten years imprisonment for his part in the Canadian Communist spy ring of which Dr. Arthur Steinberg, a former Antioch professor, is reported by the Canadian Royal Commission to have been a member.

Let's go back to the Antioch College Bulletin which says: "Before he leaves campus, the new student attends discussions about what he may find in his job experience. When he comes back to campus, he trades 'experiences with other students.'"

The student may be as loyal as George Washington or General Douglas MacArthur. But . . . "he trades experiences with other students."

Antioch spokesmen admit that Communists have been at Antioch. Thus we have the definite and dangerous possibility that perfectly loyal students may have "traded experiences" with trained Communist espionage agents planted at Antioch.

The Young Progressives of America . . . commonly known as YPA . . . are organized on the Antioch campus today. Asked about the YPA, former FBI undercover agent Malt Cvetic said: "That is the youth arm of the Progressive Party in the United States, which is under the direction of the political commission of the Communist Party."

Again . . . let's go back to the Antioch College Bulletin. We quote: "Written reports about each job experience are designed to further the student's growth. These may describe and evaluate the job itself . . . He may gather first hand material for a course project." The student is required to make these written reports.

Under "Co-Operative Job Regulations," the Antioch College Bulletin reads, in part, as follows: "Antioch asks the student to help maintain the best possible jobs and satisfactory relations with employers by bringing significant facts and suggestions about his job to the attention of the Placement Department . . . The student is expected to write a full, descriptive job report (or an alternative kind of field or experience report) each work period in order to obtain co-operative credit . . ."

It is, therefore, obviously possible for an absolutely loyal student to reveal vital industrial and defense information to a Communist sympathizer or spy who might be on the Antioch College staff.

Do you want to run that risk?

If you believe that your own welfare and the security of our nation call for a thorough congressional investigation of the Yellow Springs area and Antioch College . . . including some of the characters who are no longer on the college staff . . . write a letter or postal card . . . today . . . to one or all of the following:

Senator Thomas Burke, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D. C.
Senator John W. Bricker, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D. C.
Rep. Clarence Brown, House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C.

If there are Communists or dangerous fellow-travelers in Yellow Springs or at Antioch College, they should be exposed. If, as some say, Yellow Springs and Antioch College are free of Communistic influences that fact should be revealed and that blot of suspicion and "gossip" wiped off the records of the village and the college.

A congressional investigation is the best available instrument with which to do the job that should be done . . . now.

TURNPIKE THREATENS CITY PLANNING PRINCIPLE

The Ohio Turnpike Commission's feud with the city of Elyria comes up for a hearing before the Ohio Supreme Court on Wednesday, March 24.

The issue at hand, technically, is whether Elyria shall be forced to turn over to the Turnpike Commission the plans of its sewers, streets, public utilities, etc., so the Commission can go ahead with its plans to build the toll road through Elyria.

But there's more involved in this battle than the question of whether the Ohio Turnpike Commission can succeed in ramming a turnpike through the city of Elyria without consent.

Also involved is the future worth of planning commissions and the master plans of cities throughout the state.

An Ohio law (Revised Code 713.02) requires that an organization like the Turnpike Commission must submit in advance its plans for the approval or disapproval of city planning commissions in cities which have such master plans.

Elyria, which has had a master plan in effect since before the turnpike route was established, claims it can prove the Turnpike Commission didn't adhere to this law. Ignored it, in fact. And Elyria claims if the Turnpike Commission had submitted its plans in accordance with the law, this dispute probably never would have blossomed forth.

The city of Elyria, one of the first municipalities in the nation to be forced into such a battle, also charges the Turnpike Commission with arbitrary action, and claims the Commission won't even discuss an alternate route which would iron out the difficulties.

The main reason for this long-continuing dispute, both sides agree, is a bridge site which the city of Elyria now owns over the Black River in the northern reacher of the city.

The Turnpike Commission wants it because it's the most economical place to put a span across the river. The city of Elyria wants it because it fits in with its master plan calling for a cross city roadway needed to solve the ever-growing traffic problem.

The Turnpike Commission claims that to remove the road outside the city limits (to the north) would add approximately $1,000,000 to the cost of the super road. But Elyria officials say it'll mean a loss to the city of $1,437,360 in tax revenues from some 500 plots of real estate which would be involved. The city also sees loss possibilities as high as $5,000,000 if the road goes through and it has to change the city's plans, build a more expensive bridge elsewhere, etc. They see it also as a barrier to the city's future natural growth.

Irate Elyria citizens feel it's more important for the state of Ohio to worry about the loss to Elyria than the loss to "a bunch of Eastern bankers" who have invested in turnpike bonds.

The financial aspects are, of course, a cause for great concern to the citizens of Elyria. But the threat to the principle of city planning is a cause of concern to virtually every city in the state.

If the Supreme Court should ignore Elyria and uphold the Turnpike Commission in this pleading, then for all practical purpose those cities in the state with planning commissions and master plans can never be sure of the future stability of the hopes and dreams they've drafted for their cities. For an outfit like the Turnpike Commission could come along and condemn school sites, churches, park or anything else it pleased. (And such properties are involved in Elyria.) It's within the realm of imagination, however unlikely that under such a ruling the Ohio liquor department could take over a church for a state booze store.

There is no irreconcilable issue confronting the court in this case. It's possible for the Turnpike Commission to take its road north of Elyria — even closer to the profitable traffic flow from Lorain — and still build its road in time to meet the scheduled opening in October of 1955.

Elyria officials have hired experts who claim the commission could re-route the road with little if any additional expense, but they say it's now become a matter of principle with the Turnpike Commission, which hasn't exactly become known as a great compromiser in its dealings to date along the road's 240-mile route.

This seems like too big an issue to be settled on stubborn principle, and we're sure the Ohio Supreme Court doesn't have to be cautioned about that.

Whatever happens, this hearing scheduled before the state's highest tribunal March 24 is one which city planners should be watching with keenest interest for don't forget there's a second turnpike in the works be watching for the state right now. And maybe more in the future; who knows?

With a Buckeye In Congress...

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress, 7th Ohio District

The Defense Department Appropriation Bill, carrying funds for the armed services, is scheduled to come before the House for debate on Wednesday, April 28th. The measure will carry new appropriations of approximately $28,600,000. In addition to this amount of newly appropriated money, there will be approximately $12 billion of unobligated funds carried over from previous appropriations available for use of the armed services. The new Defense Department Appropriation Bill totals about $5.5 billion less than appropriated for this fiscal year.

Last week, as the House and Senate Committees on Agriculture continued their hearings on controversial farm legislation, Secretary of Agriculture Benson told a news conference he is confident President Eisenhower would veto any extension of the present high rigid farm price support program and law. He referred particularly to a one-year extension of the present law, which has been suggested as a possible rider amendment to the Administration's Wool Bill (S. 2911) coming up in the Senate later this week.

Representative Fred Busbey, of Illinois, has pointed out that during the calendar year of 1953, there were 305 witnesses appearing before Congressional committees who refused to testify under their Fifth Amendment rights, on the basis such testimony might tend to incriminate them. Of this number, 85 witnesses had worked, or were working, for the Federal Government; 97 were engaged in some field of education; 26 were in arts and entertainment; another 26 were authors and editors; and 13 were from the newspaper, printing, and publishing field. Yet there are those who will insist that Congressional investigating committees should be abolished.

If the Department of Agriculture is right, there will be 825 million bushels of corn from the 1954 crop to carry over. The normal corn carry-over is 200 million bushels—which means the United States will have a corn surplus of 725 million bushels this year. Total corn on hand as of October 1, 1953, was 487 million bushels; and on October 1, 1953, 768 million bushels.

Those citizens who have the hydrogen bomb jitters—and there are many of them—should not forget that, in the past, Man has been able to develop a defense against almost every weapon of war. America already has radar screens to detect and locate enemy bombers long before they reach the United States; jet fighters and interceptor planes based throughout the world to intercept and attack enemy bombers; new and deadly guided missiles which will automatically seek out and destroy invading planes; and a huge 40-wing bomber plane force on the constant alert ready to retaliate against any enemy by counter-attack.

Just a reminder—all Government Departments in Washington, including the Congress, started functioning on Daylight Savings Time (one hour ahead of Ohio time) on last Monday morning.

JAMESTOWN JOTTINGS: . . . Gee . . . it'd be so much more fun to be out hunting mushrooms than battling with Red infiltration into our educational system. And what a pleasure it is to note and acknowledge the works of folks like the Silver Boosters . . . Lions . . . American Legion. . . Grange and the others who keep the wheels of community life turning upward. But . . . we're in a fight which we honestly believe we should win. What our status is . . . we don't know. What it will be . . . we don't know. However . . . we're old-fashioned enough to believe that truth will win out even tho it often takes quite a kicking around before the day of final victory. Whether we stay here from now on or leave next month . . . we want you to know that we respect this community most highly as the kind of community which has contributed so much to the maintenance of a degree of stability during the hectic years just past and we appeal to you to make the commonsense and loyalty of this community felt even more strongly during the troubled years which lay ahead. Win or lose . . . to all of you . . . Thanks a lot!

ENCAMPMENT FOR CITIZENSHIP

A drive is being made though the mid-west to enroll Boy and Girl State delegates in the ENCAMPMENT FOR CITIZENSHIP this summer. For example Mrs. Mary Radin (wife of Alvin Radin, a Wright Field employee) at the March meeting of the Yellow Springs Community Council (this council votes on the allocation of Community Chest funds) spoke briefly on how wonderful it would be to send some young person to the ENCAMPMENT FOR CITIZENSHIP. A follow up report was read on this camp from the "Firing Line" which goes to American Legion Posts all over the county. Another questionable organization has been brought to light. The ENCAMPMENT FOR CITIZENSHIP, which was founded in 1946, is sponsored by the American Ethical Union. . . . Five members of the staff of ENCAMPMENT FOR CITIZENSHIP have left wing affiliations. . . 9 officials of the organization have extensive front affiliations. (Records are available on request to Americanism Commission.) Also planned is a documentary film on the ENCAMPMENT FOR CITIZENSHIP which would be available to high school, colleges and teachers training institutions. . . Patriotic citizens will not wish to have their children influenced by the thinking which apparently predominates this organization. Its investigation by a Congressional Committee would be worth while. Our American youth are our most priceless possession, why not protect them.

BULLETIN!

The names of several Antioch College students were ordered stricken from the registration lists by the Board of Elections today. Challenges were filed against 54 Antioch students and Yellow Springs registrants. Of the 54, ten were found to be legally registered. On motion of Prof. John Sparks, Election Board member and Antioch teacher, the challenged registrants were divided into eight categories.
At press time, the Election Board was wrestling with the problem offered by the cases of the remaining voters in the various "categories" proposed by Prof. Sparks, and the matter has been referred to Attorney General C. Wm. O'Neill.
